HUMOR OF THE HOUR

Lard and Peanuts.

At the beginning of last summer a certain well known literary woman in the west repaired to the shores of one of the lakes of Michigan, there to prepare her cottage for occupancy during the heated term. Before going she had arranged with her husband to cause a lot of household goods to be packed and forwarded by steamer.

It appears that for some reason the shipment was delayed and that the lady was obliged to write to her husband inquiring with reference to the delay. In conclusion she had appended to her letter a postscript reading, "Please telegraph me when the goods shall have been shipped."

Pursuant to instructions, the husband personally supervised the packing of the various effects needed for the cottage in Michigan, even going down to the dock to see that they were duly conveyed on board the steamer. Moreover, as requested by his wife, he telegraphed what he had done. "Lares and penates on board," wired he; "will arrive tomorrow morning."

When his wife received the telegram she read: "Lard and peanuts on board; will arrive tomorrow morning."—Harper's Weekly.

Following Advice.

"Really, Mr. Hanson," said the fair girl, "I'm shocked to hear you confess such behavior in your business dealings. You should always do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

"You wouldn't have me do that at ways."

"Certainly," she replied; "always."

"All right. Here goes!" he cried and kissed her.—Philadelphia Press.

Unfortunates.

Mrs. Greene—I should think you'd feed your boarders a little better. You can't expect them to say a good word for you when they leave.

Mrs. Skinner—Oh, but they do. Almost every one of them has a grudge against some friend of his, and he invariably recommends my house to him. I get lots of new boarders that way.—Boston Transcript.

Had to Wait His Turn.

Schoolteacher—What! You say that you are late because you have been to get your hair cut? But you're nearly an hour behind time.

Scholar—Please, sir, there was another man before me.

In Case of Failure.

"But," said the young man who had just been admitted to the bar, "suppose my practice should be a failure—then what?"

"Well," replied the old lawyer encouragingly, "there is politics that is always open to you. Remember, there are 236 lawyers in our house of representatives and quite a few in our senate."—Judge.

Between Friends.

"I asked George if he thought you were pretty, and he said the word pretty couldn't describe you."

"How nice!"

"I'm afraid you don't understand me, dear. I asked him what word would describe you and he replied that he would rather not say."—Detroit Tribune.

His Benevolent Scheme.

"I'm going to endow one of the universities," said the millionaire—"going to establish a chair."

"Chair of what?" asked his friend.

"Well, I don't know what you'd call it for short, but it's a chair that's badly needed—a chair to teach graduates how to get a job."—Brooklyn Life.

Disasters.

"He's very refined. At dinner he never blows his soup."

"What does he do when it's hot?"

"Waits for it to cool."

"Well, I tried that, an' the hired girl come an' took my plate away afore I got a single spoonful."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Schemer.

Merryman—I always keep my wife provided with good reading matter. Clubby—Any particular reason?

Merryman—Yep; it keeps her amused so that when she sits up at night waiting for me to come home she doesn't care how late I stay out!—Detroit Free Press.

A One Sided Sentiment.

"There is no use of a man being proud of his ancestors," said the affable man.

"No," answered Miss Cayenne. "In numerous cases the ancestors would not reciprocate if they had a chance."—Washington Star.

Always in the Market.

Jinks—Why do these millionaires dress so shabbily?
Winks—So folks will take pity on 'em and buy their watered stocks.—New York Weekly.

The house at 10 Downing street, London, is the official residence of the English premier and is always kept ready for his occupancy. Mr. Balfour stayed there while in London recently, and an open fire is always kept burning in his bedroom, whether he is in London or not.

The 700 shoemakers' shops in Canton, China, employ 8,000 men and 20,000 women, who work from daylight to dark. Since the recent introduction of kerosene lamps their hours even have been lengthened. They get from about $2.00 to $5 a month in wages and their meals, consisting of rice and salt fish.

For a winter climate Canon City, Colo., has a reputation second to no locality in the United States. During the winter of 1903-04 hundreds of rolling blue birds and turkeys made their homes in that vicinity, and there was no weather during the whole season so severe as to harm the feathered creatures.

Belgium, where public libraries are almost unknown, enjoys 19,000 public houses. That means one public house for thirty-six inhabitants, or one public house for twelve men above seventeen years of age. During the last fifty years the population has increased 50 per cent; the number of public houses 288 per cent.

The English market, which on account of its great importations of Brazilian rubber is the principal intermediary between production and French industry, is of much greater importance than all the other markets. The Belgian and German markets do not furnish France half as much as do its own colonies.

At a recent medical exhibition in London a new anesthetic, called somniform, was shown. It is a liquid whose "boiling point" is 23 degrees below zero. The moment it comes in contact with the air it becomes gas. Its great virtue, from a medical point of view, is that breathing stops before the heart when it is administered.

Housewives in Florida scrub their floors with oranges. In almost any town in the orange growing districts women may be seen using the fruit as soap. They cut the oranges in halves and rub the flat, exposed pulp on the floor. The acid in the oranges does the cleansing and does it well, for the boards are as white as snow after the application.

The cultivation of the olive is increasing constantly, though slowly, in Spain. The oil yield per acre last year was 32 gallons, or 13.8 gallons more than the yield of 1902-03, 3 gallons more than the yield of 1901-02 and 2 gallons more than the average.

The British Medical Journal says: "Koepeke believes that the different symptoms of seasickness are due to anaemia of the brain, and that valdoid acts upon this condition by raising the blood pressure. It also influences the gastric disturbance by lowering the sensibility of the nerve endings in the gastric mucous membrane and is indeed both a good stomachic and a good analeptic."

Argus Eyed and Hydra Headed. The term "Argus eyed" means watchful. According to the Grecian fable, Argus had 100 eyes, and Juno set him to watch all of whom she was jealous. When Argus was slain she transplanted his eyes into the tail of the peacock. "Hydra headed" is a term derived from the fable of Hercules and the hydra. The hydra had nine heads, and Hercules was sent to kill it. As soon as he struck off one of its heads two shot up in its place.

FRIDAY, Feb. 17, 1905.

Sonoma is to be congratulated on securing an up-to-date ice plant. Early in the week Mr. Bose, the owner of the new plant, secured the lease of a building on First St. East, back of Schocken's store, from S. Schocken, and the machinery is on hand and it will be installed as soon as the weather will permit. The building will be enlarged and improved. We bespeak for Mr. Bose success in his enterprise, and it goes without saying that our people will all patronize him in his line.

The management of the C. N. R'y, are planning to use crude oil for fuel in place of wood, on the locomotives. This will be a great saving to the company and precludes all possibilities of fires from flying cinders etc. Large oil tanks will be erected at convenient places along the line.

New Mexico has been admitted to statehood by congress and there is, in consequence, great rejoicing in that section of Uncle Sam's domain. A similar bill was also passed, making Oklahoma and Indian Territory one state. Two new stars will now be added to our beloved Stars and Stripes, making forty-seven in all.

Sonoma Valley has experienced a cold wave this week but the thermometer never went below 55 degrees above zero, where in some sections of the Mississippi Valley the temperature ran from 8 to 38 degrees below zero. An inviting comparison.

The advertising merchant is prosperous and enterprising. Trade with him. You can save money by doing so.

Gen. Lew Wallace, soldier and author of the famous story, "Ben Hur, A tale of the Christ," died at his home in Crawfordsville, Ind. on Wednesday. He was born in 1829.

Sonoma Boy Promoted

Chas. Cheney, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cheney of this city, has been appointed General Foreman of the Blacksmith department in the S. P. Co. shop, at Sparks, Nevada. Learning his trade in Sonoma, under his grandfather, Chas. McHarvey, he afterwards worked in the S. P. Co. railroad shop at Sacramento for five years, when he was sent to Wadsworth, Nevada, as working foreman. Two months ago he accepted the position as Blacksmith foreman in the new shop at Sparks, Nevada.

Married at Petaluma

Former Supervisor, T. C. Patman of this district, and a well-known capitalist of Petaluma, and Mrs. E. J. Heinekin, an estimable and well-to-do lady who is a resident of the same place, were married in Petaluma on Wednesday last.

Their wide circle of friends extend hearty congratulations and best wishes.

Hot For Cloverdale

The California Northwestern R'y have again given the people of Sonoma Valley a liberal opportunity to visit the great Citrus Fair at Cloverdale.

The fair this year will be larger and better and in many other ways will prove more interesting than any of the other fine twelve fairs, our sister city has conducted.

The fare on Sonoma county day, Feb. 22 Washington's Birthday, for the round trip from any point on the branch line, good for that day only will be but $1.00. This extremely low rate makes it possible for every one to attend the fair and doubtless a train load from the valley will take advantage of the opportunity.

Our Annual Treat

The Expositor acknowledges with thanks a large box of luscious navel oranges from the Directors and Press Committee of the Cloverdale Citrus Fair. The Committee was good to us, the oranges tasted extra good to us, and we commend the good taste of the senders in adopting the custom Love life and prosperity to the Cloverdale Citrus Fair Association.

W. O. W. EVENT.

Monday evening was a banner one in the history of Sonoma Woodcraft.

The members of Bear Flag Camp, 758, W. O. W. in full force met in the lodge room on Broadway and welcomed the Uniform Rank of Woodmen, twenty-five strong, the degree team, of Petaluma, after which, headed by the visiting neighbors the woodmen, marched in a body to Weyl's Hall, where the beautiful and impressive ceremony of adoption was ably carried out by the Petaluma team.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, adjournment was taken to the banquet room where ample justice was done to every dainty and of good things there was a varied abundance. The meeting was a very happy one indeed and the visit of our esteemed neighbors of Petaluma was heartily appreciated and enjoyed.

MR. SONDAG A HERO.

A. Sondag the tailor of 331 Kearny St. San Francisco, performed a very heroic act one day last week when he saved the life of Marshal Hainque a lad of 10 years, living at 108 McAllister St., San Francisco.

Mr. Sondag with his wife and children were taking an outing on the wharf at the foot of Hyde St. where several boys including the Hainque boy were fishing for crab. Suddenly one of the fisher lads slipped into the bay. Mr. Sondag without waiting a moment donned his coat and jumped into the bay and brought to shore the drowning boy. The rescuer gave the exhausted boy some dry clothing and took him to his home. Mr. Sondag was heartily commended for his coolness and bravery in saving the boy's life.

Sonoma Athletic Club.

The new athletic club was organized in Weyl's Hall last Saturday evening where a large and enthusiastic membership of fifty-two, among which are some of the valleys leading citizens and business men.

Dr. A. M. Thomson, President of the club presided and W. C. Nolan was at his post at the secretary's table. A very interesting program was carried out.

Sonoma Product Honored.

In awarding the prizes of the St. Louis Exposition, the judges decided that the wines of Dresel & Co. of Sonoma were the best of all the many exhibited there and awarded them the Grand Medal in recognition of that fact.

Mr. Carl Dresel is to be congratulated on this eminent recognition of the quality of his famous wines in the manufacture of which he spares no pains and expense, to attain perfection.

The award is worth thousands of dollars to our valley as an advertisement of its productiveness.

Death of Mrs. Stripling.

Word has been received here of the death in New York on Jan. 27, of Mrs. Grace E. Stripling, beloved wife of L. C. Stripling and sister of E. J., William, John and Thos. Ellis and Mrs. Wm. Trathen, a native of Maine.

The deceased lady was many years ago a resident of this valley but later made her home in Oakland.

The Old Mission.

The bill providing for the placing of the old missions into the hands of the State of California, passed by the legislature is an excellent and timely one, especially for the Sonoma Mission.

It is hoped that permission to preserve our mission from total collapse will be given in time to save it. We can then take down the signs, tacked all over it by Hearst's agent, warning people that they will be arrested if they go near or touch the historic building, even for the purpose of keeping it from falling down.

Death of an Infant.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Baccala of the Swiss Hotel, have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends in the sad death of their baby boy, Wednesday evening. Little Antone Baccala was born Tuesday morning and therefore was destined to enjoy life but two short days.

Death of Mrs. Frisbie, Sonoma's First White Child.

Epifania Guadalupe Vallejo, wife of General John B. Frisbie, an old and wealthy American resident here, is dead of pneumonia. Mrs. Frisbie was the first white child born in the valley of Sonoma, Cal., and her father was the famous General Vallejo, head of the Mexican Military Department in California before the annexation of that territory to the United States.

The above telegram was received in San Francisco on Wednesday.

Many of the pioneers of the state will remember the deceased lady, and will hear of her demise with profound regret.

The Frisbies have for many years made their home in Vallejo. The family were temporarily in Mexico, where Gen. Frisbie owns vast plantations and while there his wife was attacked by the dread disease from which she passed away.

Epifania Guadalupe Vallejo was born in Sonoma, Aug. 4, 1834, in one of the adobe buildings attached to the old Mission and was the first white child born in Sonoma Valley.

She was the mother of fifteen children of whom but seven survive. Mrs. Cutter, Mrs. Haraszyth and Mrs. L. V. Emparan are sisters and N. P. and J. Vallejo are brothers of the deceased.

Mrs. Hill Returns

Mrs. Robert P. Hill returned Wednesday morning from Los Angeles, where she attended a meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. She reports having had a delightful time but was eager to get back to old Sonoma Valley, which far exceeds any section she saw in her travels since leaving home.

Mrs. Hill says that the meetings of the federation were enthusiastic and inspiring, and she returns with the determination to make the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club exceed the great record it has made in the past.

She will have an interesting report to make to the club at their meeting next Saturday, Feb. 18.

Our aches and pains would not be so bad if they didn't get busy at the wrong time and in the wrong place.

SEBASTOPOL SCORCHED.

Sebastopol was visited by another disastrous blaze, Tuesday night, when the Barnes block, one of the finest in town, was completely destroyed, together with its contents, entailing a loss of between $25,000 and $30,000.

The Barnes block, which was the property of W. P. Barnes of Santa Rosa, was occupied downstairs by the Sebastopol Rochdale Company and by John Hansen, the furniture dealer. The upper floor was occupied by the offices of Dr. Keating, the physician, and Dr. Bonham, the dentist.

The fire started in the rear of Hansen's furniture store, and spread rapidly. Only the south wall of the Barnes block is now standing.

When it was seen that the local apparatus could not cope with the situation, an emergency call was sent to the Santa Rosa authorities for assistance. The steam fire engine and one of the hose wagons were at once put aboard a special electric freight car and rushed there at high speed, which undoubtedly accounts for the fact that the conflagration was confined to its present area.

POPULAR COUPLE FETED

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Tate Tendered a Reception Monday Night

The high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Tate are held by their host of friends in Sonoma Valley was fully attested on Monday evening, when Union Hall was crowded, to bid welcome and extend hearty congratulations to Mr. Tate and his fair bride.

The Sonoma Valley Band was present and rendered some beautiful and appropriate selections.

When all had been given an opportunity to grasp the hand of bride and groom, dancing was begun and enjoyed until the call for supper. All went to the tastefully decorated dining-room of the Union, where a tempting spread, prepared by admiring friends, awaited them.

It would be easier to enumerate what edibles were not included in the elaborate menu than to give a list of the wealth of the good things that had been provided.

The happy company lingered long at this Epicurean feast which served so well to enliven the joyous occasion.

Mrs. Ada Pauli ably presided at the piano while the happy crowd "tripped the light fantastic."

Good nights were said and with a renewal of best wishes and a hearty welcome, the assembled guests took their departure for home.

THE NEW ICE PLANT

Mr. Bose Expects to be Ready for Business April 1st

The machinery for Bose's new ice plant has arrived, a building has been secured, and preparations are now being made to install the plant. Everything will be in readiness for this year's business by the first of April.

This will prove a valuable addition to the industries in this rapidly growing valley, and will fill a long-felt want.

The plant is up-to-date in every particular, and under the management of Mr. Bose, who is an expert in the manufacture of ice, the residents of this valley and surrounding country may rest assured that the ice turned out by this plant will be the purest and best that can be produced.

Funeral Of J. R. Cooper.

Rev. Reed officiated at the grave.

Jessup Fund Suits

In two suits for the recovery of moneys paid out of the Jessup fund by the trustees of the Home at Eldridge, in 1902, Judge Seawell of San Francisco, on Wednesday ruled that the actions were not brought by the proper parties, and a non-suit in each case was granted. The suits were instituted by the present trustees of the home against the Puget Sound Lumber Co., Jas. A. Snook & Co., Dr. W. M. Lawlor, former superintendent of the home, C. W. Gould, H. E. Leland and H. F. Dugan, who were trustees when the moneys were paid.

Mrs. Hannah M. Jessup bequeathed $3000 for the care of her son, Louis, at the home, and the trustees of the institution who were in office at that time were appointed by the Court as trustees of this fund. Judge Seawell holds that these men remained trustees of the fund after their terms of office expired, and that suits for the recovery of the fund should be in their names, the present trustees of the home having no claim in this connection.

After the fund had been swelled by interest, $818.93 was paid from it to the Puget Sound Lumber Co. and $2714.95 to Snook & Co.

An appeal or a new suit will probably be filed soon. The Attorney General is plaintiff's attorney.

The Next Institute

The next Teachers Institute will doubtless be held in Santa Rosa, judging from the notes of the pedagogues so far received by Co. Supt. Miss Coulter. Santa Rosa is far in the lead, Petaluma second and a few scattering.

Head Consul Dead.

F. A. Falkenberg, head consul of the Woodmen of the World, died at Los Angeles Wednesday morning, after a long illness. He was brought to Los Angeles from Denver two months ago in the hope that a lower altitude would help him. Two weeks ago his case was given up as hopeless. The remains were shipped to Denver for interment. The deceased was born in 1857, and has been prominent in fraternal circles for many years. Together with Joseph G. Root, the then head consul of the modern Woodmen of America, he founded the order of Woodmen of the World, in 1890, and has been head consul for the western division of the order since that time. He was elected president of the National Fraternal Congress last summer in St. Louis.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Ich—Ringworm.

E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky., writes April 25th, 1902: "For 10 to 12 years I had been afflicted with a malady known as the 'itch.' The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief, having tried all remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the liniment on two separate occasions for ring worm and it cured completely. 25c. 50c, and $1.00 bottle. Sold by L. S. Simmons Prescription Druggist Sonoma Cal.

Poisons In Food.

Perhaps you don't realize that many pain poisons originate in your food, but some day you may feel a twinge of dyspepsia that will convince you. Dr. King's New Life Pills are guaranteed to cure all sickness due to poisons of undigested food—or money back, 25c at Shoults & Co. druggist. Try them.

Agonizing Burns are instantly relieved, and perfectly healed, by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. C. Rivenpark, Jr., of Norfolk, Va. writes: "I burnt my knee dreadfully; that it blistered all over. Bucklen's Arnica Salve stopped the pain, and healed it without a scar." Also heals all wounds and sores. 25c at Shoults & Co., druggist.

All women are born reformers and they want to begin on some man.

Grave Trouble Foreseen It needs but little foresight, to tell, that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat, I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by Shoults & Co., druggist, at 50c a bottle.

Men who go to law are sure to get satisfaction—if they are lawyers.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's, or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada. Sold by Shoults and Co. Druggist.

He who expresses his willingness to die for a woman always reserves the right to fix the date of his demise.

Croup

Begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup (the child will cry for it) and at the first sign of a croupy cough, apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat.

Mrs. A. Vliet, New Castle, Colo., writes, March 19th, 1901: "I think Ballard's Horehound Syrup a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant." 25c. 50c and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons Prescription Druggist Sonoma Cal.

La Grippe and Pneumonia. Pneumonia often follows La Grippe but never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cures la grippe coughs and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Mr. G. Vacher, of 157 Osgood St., Chicago, writes My wife had a severe case of la grippe three years ago, and it left her with a terrible cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50 cent bottle cured her cough entirely. Refuse substitutes. Sold by L. S. Simmons

When an old man proposes to a girl he should accompany his proposal with a certified check—not necessarily for publication, but as a guaranty of good faith.

Failed.

All efforts have failed to find a better remedy for coughs, colds and lung trouble than Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. J. N. Patterson, Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." Sold by L. S. Simmons, Sonoma, Cal.

About two-thirds of the people who attend church can't tell an hour later what the minister talked about.

Prating Foley's Honey And Tar. Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered of the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold by L. S. Simmons, Sonoma, Cal.

When a widower begins to tell his troubles to a widow she knows he is going to ask her to share them.

A Menace to Health. Kidney trouble is an insidious danger, and many people are victims of a serious malady before the symptoms are recognized. Foley's Kidney Cure corrects irregularities and strengthens and builds up the Kidney and it should be taken at the first indication of kidney trouble, as it is impossible to have good health if the kidneys are deranged. EGGS 9c DOZ

MACHINES THAT MAKE EGGS

There are machines on the ranches near Petaluma, that make eggs. Of course in order to make eggs it is necessary to put certain definite material to the machine. You can't put hay in to these machines and produce eggs. You can't put wood in these machines and produce eggs, but you can put in the feed called COULSON'S EGG FOOD and make these machines (hens) produce eggs at 9c per dozen; and sell these eggs above 30c per dozen; and if you have a number of machines that you keep in good condition you can coin money, by making these machines lay eggs.

One prominent poultryman who has been experimenting with these machines for a long time, says he can produce eggs at 9c per doz with COULSON'S EGG FOOD, and it costs him 12c per dozen to produce eggs with common soft foods, therefore he now feeds COULSON'S EGG FOOD altogether.

Gems In Verse
We, Grown Old.
I, who yesterday was young,
Now am old instead;
All of youth a glad song sung,
All a story said.
It was Love who sang the song,
Love the story told,
Ah, but we remember long,
We, grown old.
Only yesterday I quaffed
Life's enkindling wine;
Only yesterday I laughed
Youth's light laugh divine.
It was Love who played the host,
Brimmed the cup of gold,
Ah, but we remember most,
We, grown old.
Only yesterday my eyes
Held youth's marvelings;
Nay, it is not time that flies—
Love alone has wings.
Time plods slow in very truth;
Love—what man may hold?
Ah, we know who fled our youth,
We, grown old.
—Theodore Garrison in Harper's.

"Show Me."
Do you know Mr. Tell-you-how? He is the man who eyes
Your patient efforts to succeed with sneers he can't disguise.
No matter what your work may be—perhaps it's driving nails Or keeping books or selling goods or maybe splitting rails—
But Mr. Tell-you-how will come and venture to suggest Another way for you to work, and then you should request:
"Show me!"
Just when you're hustling at your task with all your main and might Comes Mr. Tell-you-how to say he doesn't think that's right.
"Now, what you ought to do," says he—
"of course, it's not my trade,
But if it was, why not and that and other moves I'd made,
And, while you're doing pretty well, I'd choose another way."
Right then 's the time to hand your tools
to Tell-you-how and say:
"Show me!"
Behold, the tribe of Tell-you-hows are most equipped with talk.
You say, "I'd rather see than hear," then on their way they walk.
You may not be entirely sure of what success you'll reach,
But what you want is acts, not words,
from those who want to teach.
And so when Mr. Tell-you-how begins to interfere You'll find relief if you will pause and murmur in his ear:
"Show me!"
—W. D. Nesbitt in New York World.

The Book of Wars.
When the book of the wars of men is done
And the story is truly penned
From the yallowing page of the tale begun
To the chapter that holds the end,
When the trumpets of peace the world around
Have blend in a chorus grand
And the battle shall no more be found
As a shadow above the land,
Will we keep the book of the wars of men
In a high and honored place
That our children's sons may be thrilled again
With the stories their eyes may trace?
Will we cherish the book in faithful pride
That men of a future age
May account themselves with the ones who did
That the volume might have a page?
Will the book of the wars of men tell truth?
Will it mingle the songs and cheers
With the sacrifice of the beardless youth
And the dew of a mother's tears?
Will it blazon in letters of noble deed,
That won a forgotten fame?
Will it tell of the gripe of a ceaseless grief
That has wrought for a nation's shame?
Oh, the book of the wars of men! It waits Till the banners that tell of scorn and hates
In the glory of peace are furled!
Will we keep it to tell of the rolling drum
And the peals that the fiers know,
Or to speak to the men of the days to come
Of the way that they must not go?
—Chicago Tribune.

The Dog's Cold Nose.
When Neph, perceiving 'twas time to embark
Desired the creatures to enter the ark,
The dog with a friendliness truly sublime
Assisted in herding them. Two at a time
He drove in the elephants, zebras and grus
Until they were packed like a boxful of sorecaws—
The cat in the cupboard, the mouse on the shelf,
The bug in the crack—then he backed in himself.
But such was the lack of available space
He couldn't tuck all of him into the place,
And so, though the rivers rushed over the banks
And down from the heavens fell blankets
of rain,
He stood with his muzzle thrust out through the door
The whole forty days of that terrible pour!
Because of which drenching, the eagles
unfled,
The nose of a healthy dog always is cold.
—Arthur Guffman in New York Times.

Love.
Love is like the glass
That throws its own rich color over all
And makes all beautiful.
—London.
In love there's no such word as absence!
The loved one, like our guardian spirit, walks
Beside us ever, shines upon the beam, Perfumes the flower and sighs in every breath!
—Bulwer.
Love rules the court, the camp, the grove
And men below and saints above,
For love is heaven, and heaven is love.
—Sir Walter Scott.
The rose is fairest when 'tis budding new,
And hope is brightest when it dawns
from fear;
The rose is sweetest when washed with morning dew,
And love is loveliest when 'tis washed
in tears.
—Shakespeare.

The world's an inn; all travelers are we,
And this world's goods the accommodations be.
Our life is nothing but a winter's day;
Some only break their fast and so away;
Others stay dinner and depart full fed;
The dearest gain but sups and goes to bed.
He's most in debt that lingers out the day;
Who dies betimes has less and less to pay.
—Poor Richard's Almanac.

An Odd Opinion.
Do I believe in putting a stop to swearing? No, I don't. If you prevent the workman from swearing, thus relieving his feelings, what will happen? Why, he will go home and murder his family.—G. Bernard Shaw.

Might Have Been Worse.
Church—I had to walk the floor all night with the baby. Can you think of anything worse than that? Gotham —Yes; you might have married out in Greenland, where the nights are six months long.—Yonkers Statesman.

WOMAN AND FASHION
Negligee For Girl.
No negligee yet devised provides greater satisfaction and comfort than the kimono. This one is simple and graceful and includes an inverted plait at the back, which means graceful and becoming fullness. As illustrated the material is white Japanese crape with ULMER
GIRL'S KIMONO.
hands of pink wash silk, but all these in vogue for garments of the sort are appropriate.
To make the kimono for a girl of fourteen years of age will be required five and three-eighths yards of material twenty-seven or three and a half yards forty-four or fifty-two inches wide, with one and five-eighths yards of silk for bands.

Looking Ahead.
The full skirts which have prevailed
during the fall and winter will undoubtedly be good during the coming spring. Of course the fullness will be confined in plaits, flaring gracefully at the knees. Walking skirts will be shorter. The correct length is three or four inches off the ground. By a trick of fashion carriage and reception skirts are to be worn three or four inches on the ground all the way around. They must be as long in front as in the back.
There is a promise that the coats for spring will be short. Jackets and perhaps Etons will take the place of the three-quarter coats and those even longer which have been worn during the winter.

The Latest Stocks.
Some of the new stocks are almost barbaric in their color schemes, a dozen colors being piled on a background of leather or the green suede that is so good this year. But the prettiest stocks are made with little frills that spread out at the base of the collar like a tiny yoke. Most of the frills are of plaitings, with an occasional one that is fared out by curiously shaped bits of some sheer material.

A Velvet Novelty.
A novelty among the many new silk velvets which have appeared on the market is that adorned with an embossed satin spot about the size of a paw, which is of a somewhat darker shade than the groundwork. In some cases it is of quite a different color from the velvet and is outlined with a narrow rim of white, which gives it a rather curious effect.

The New Vells.
Lace vells, especially the real for spring wear, will have large designs.
Bordered vells of all sorts are distinctly smart in Paris, although here they are less worn. Abroad the idea is to have the hat matched by its veil, and many of the new hats shown here have veils that came from Paris with them,
each hat having its own particular veil.

A Novel Design.
Blouse waists made with deep cuffs in gauntlet style and so designed as to suggest a vest effect are among the novelties of the later season. This one is made of fancy silk, with collar and cuffs of lace, but all waisting materials are appropriate, and the design suits
the entire gown as well as the separate

Blouse or Shirt Waist.
The back is laid in box plaits for its entire length, while the fronts are tucked at the shoulders and include an applied box plait at the center, which can be slashed, as illustrated, or left plain, as preferred.
The quantity of material required for a woman of medium size is four and three-quarters yards twenty-one, four and a quarter yards twenty-seven or two and three-quarters yards forty-four inches wide.

He Sold and Left.
A lawyer had a horse that always stopped and refused to cross a certain bridge leading out of the city. No whipping, no urging, would induce him to cross it, so he advertised him. "To be sold for no other reason than that the owner wants to get out of town."
A Strong Part.
Soubrette—Yes, the understudy says he used to have a very strong part on the stage. Comedian—So he did. He used to be a scene shifter and lift the mountains and castles.—Chicago News.

NEW SHORT STORIES
Dog's Troubles Were Light.
There was a visitor to the gentleman's senate gallery the other afternoon while Senator Dillingham was walking up and down the narrow passageways between the desks.
"I have been to that man's town,"
said the visitor to a friend. "It's cold, gloomy and cheerless looking, though there is a lot of wealth there and hundreds of warm hearted, generous people. Over at White River Junction, a little way from Montpelier, I stopped at the little hotel, the only one there, whence originated the story that Private John Allen has used so effectively.
The landlord was out in front, vigor-

"Shut up," he said.
ously ringing the dinner bell. From down the road in the distance he saw a commercial traveler kicking up the dust with his heavy shoes and heavier load of samples. A band dog, his melancholy surroundings and thoughts accentuated by the clanging of the bell, was baying, howling, yelping, whooing to beat the band as the drummer walked up.
"Shut up," he said, with some petu-lance, to the dog. "You don't have to eat here. You can go to a neighbor's."
—New York American.

A Strong Inducement.
Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania celebrated his birthday recently in Philadelphia. A Philadelphiaian during a congratulatory call said of him:
"I remember Penrose's entrance into politics when he was a boy of twenty-four. He won the liking of Senator Quay by a quaint little speech that he made to the Republican leader during the presentation of a petition.
"This petition was laid before Mr.
Quay by a delegation whose spokesman was insufferably long winded and tedious. The man talked to the senator nearly an hour. Every one stood during his speech, and it seemed that it would never end.
"When finally it did end Mr. Quay asked wearily if there were any further reasons for the granting of the petition that the delegates had to offer.
"Penrose, tall and straight and boyish, smiled and said in a low voice:
"If you don't grant it, sir, we'll have that speech repeated all over again to you."—San Antonio Express.

Burying the Hatchet.
Mr. William M. Chase, the New York artist who was one of the very few real friends the late James Abbott Mac-Neill Whistler ever possessed, says that he was once conversing with that eccentric artist with reference to his unjustifiably belligerent attitude toward nearly everything and everybody.
Mr. Chase himself had on more than one occasion been a target for the friendship breaking remarks of the author of
"The Gentle Art of Making Enemies." So it was with some warmth that he reminded to Whistler:
"Really, I must say you are incorrigi-ble. It would seem that with you, Whistler, there is never a time to bury the hatchet."
"You are quite mistaken," responded Whistler in the blandest way. "There is often a time to bury the hatchet—in the side of the enemy. Then we should think of him no more."—Collier's Weekly.

Measuring Space.
James Whitcomb Riley, who occasionally visits country schools in the Hoosier State, once gave a brief address on the subject of the stars. At the conclusion of his interesting talk he said:
"Can any of you boys tell me what space is?"
The bright faced young son of a country editor promptly raised his hand.
"Well, my lad," said the poet, "what do you think space is?"
"Twenty-five cents an agate line for display matter, sir," he piped out—
Saturday Evening Post

Kipling's Elate.
When Rudyard Kipling was revising
the proofs of "Traffics and Discoveries" last summer his little daughter Elsie was seated in a chair in the same room.
Suddenly Mr. Kipling began to sing
"On the Road to Mandalay" and suddenly looked up in surprise and said:
"Father, didn't you write that song?"
"Yes."
"Well, it seems to me that you ought to know the tune better."—New York World.

His Originality.
Uncle George—I have read your article over, and I must say it shows a great deal of originality. Arthur—Thanks, I'm sure! I flattered myself
there were some ideas in it. Uncle George—Oh, I was not speaking of the composition, but of the spelling.

The Customary Climax.
Nurdy—How did the new play end?
Butts—Oh, in the usual way. Nurdy—
And what do you call the usual end?
Butts—in a whirl of hats and feathers and opera cloaks.—Hornet Chronicle.

GREEK SUPERSTITIONS.
Some of the Old Mythological Beliefs
Still Prevail.
"Some of the superstitions of the old mythologic religion still prevail among the peasant classes in Greece," said a native of that country. "Nor are the educated classes without such beliefs, such as that harm ensues from looking at the moon over the right shoulder.
The belief in the three fates, the evil eye, the vampires and the nereids is general. Dressed in black and appearing as old women, the fates are supposed to come down from Olympus three days after the birth of a child and to hold a meeting to determine its fate. Consequently a table containing many dainties is set out for their invisible enjoyment. Especial care is taken lest the old ladies be enraged at not having enough good things to eat.
"No woman desires to be left alone after her child is born, believing that the ugly old women may become jealous and wreak some awful vengeance.
Snuff is therefore smeared on the faces of the youngsters so that this jealousy may not become excited.
"The young Athenian women frequently go to the ancient tombs near Athens and, calling upon the fates, beg them to reveal the identity of their future husbands, singing, 'From the top of Olympus, where are the fates, where is my own fate?'"—Washington Post.

Household Hint.

itself. How do you manage her? The Hostess—Easily. We learn what dishes she likes best herself and then we have those only.—Puck.
